++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Drier for most on Sunday with some bright spells.

This Evening and Tonight:
Southern showers continue to fade into the evening leaving many areas dry. However, further north a band of light rain and low cloud moves southwards overnight. Feeling cooler than recent nights. Minimum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Sunday:
Light rain from overnight clears southwards across Wales through the morning. Most places turning dry thereafter, but the odd shower is still possible. Light winds with temperatures slightly below normal. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Unsettled conditions continue into next week starting with scattered showers on Monday and Tuesday. Further showers on Wednesday, heavy at times.
